By WOODY KLEIN Of the World-Telegram Staff

Rep. John V. Lindsay (1 Man.) said today he had " confidence" in James B. Dor van, president of the Board Education, and he accused t board of letting the integration stage."

"I have no confidence him," the GOP Congressma said of Donovan in an inte view. "I feel his greatest err was using bad judgment in h public statements.".

Donovan touched off a furrecently when he called t board a "Board of Education not a Board of Integration or Board of Transportation."

Antagonized Leaders

And he antagonized man civil rights leaders when called the first school boyer a "fizzle." More than 460.00 students were absent fro school.

Lindsay said the scho board's integration plan was 'case of too little too late." F said "it is clear that the ciacted only under pressure."

"This is not a good way handle a problem that shou have been obvious for a lor period of time. The boar moves slowly because if plagued by massive butter

A revised list of setting be paired for integration w expected to be amnounced the Board of Education t night.

Under the board's proposed Princeton Plan, several schools within Lindsay's 17th Congressional District may be paired with others outside of it.

Although no pairings have e been announced officially, par-nents groups in the Yorkville controversy reach "the crisis and Stuyvesant Town sections of Lindsay's district already have bitterly objected to pairing or busing plans.

> "Of course, nebody has suggeried that white hids be sent into all Negro neighborhoods. the GOP leader explained. "That's the trouble. There is, a great deal of misunderstanding because the board acted so late in the game."

Backs Princeton Plan

Lindsay said the Princeton Plan was a "sound approach" in contiguous areas. Under this, plan, the board would join mostly-Negro and mostlywhite schools, in adjoining neighborhoods, the first three grades in one school, the next three in another.

The Congressmen said he. was opposed to boycotts and demonstrations-by both white and Negro groups.

Lindsay said "each school district must be examined on its own. The formula for one area might not be right for another.'
